

ArtPassport winner announced

HAVE passport, will travel - a Wiveliscombe resident who clocked up a staggering 28 visits during the recent 10 Parishes Festival found herself the ArtPassport winner of a beautiful hand-blown piece of glass from the town's contemporary craft gallery Blue Teal and Silver.

Margje Franse, of Lion d'Angers, who originally worked at the Cultural Council in The Hague, Holland, was delighted by the venues and open studios of the highly successful Festival.

She threw herself wholeheartedly into the ArtPassport scheme, where visitors had a "passport" stamped at each artistic location - providing a fun and different angle for this year's Festival.

As holder of the highest number of stamps, Margje is now the owner of an heirloom of the future designed and blown by Loco Glass and presented by gallery owner Bronwen Gwillim.

Margje said: "I enjoyed everything about the Festival - such a variety of talents. It was interesting talking to the artists, they were so approachable and it made their work much more personal.

"It's great to get a prize for something I've really enjoyed!"

Even more wonderful art works for Wiveliscombe

THREE local artists have been working on new plaques for the WHAT Brewery Trail. These three latest commissions have been managed by the excellent Jim Laker Fund.

John Alder's sinuous 'Green Dragon' will be installed on the White Hart, where the Green Dragon pub once was. Michael Fairfax's 'Kings Arms' will be sited on the side of the Homeopathic Practice next to the Bear, and Bronwen Gwillim's soon to be completed 'The Bell', will be sited on the wall of the Corner House, next to Whelan's, in the Square.

John Alder has also created this majestic buzzard for Colleigh Brewery, which will be mounted on their premises in Ford Road.
